

EDWARD H. KOLB MD

Board Certified

Orthopedic & Sports Medicine Center
2200 Fort Jesse Road, Suite 250
Normal, IL 61761
(309) 454-1616

WORK EXPERIENCE: Orthopedic & Sports Medicine Center
Board Certified Orthopedic Surgeon
Normal, IL
August 2003 - present

CLINICAL TRAINING: Rush Presbyterian St. Luke's Medical Center
Orthopedic Surgery Residency Training Program
Chicago, Illinois
June 1998 – June 2003

EDUCATION: Graduate: Rush Medical College
Chicago, Illinois
September 1994 – June 1998
Degree: M.D.

Undergraduate: University of Illinois
Urbana-Champaign, Illinois
September 1989 – June 1993
Degree: B.S. Biology

CERTIFICATION: Board Certified by the American Board of Orthopedic Surgeons
Passed Part I – 7/03
Passed Part II- 7/05

PROFESSIONAL MEMBERSHIPS: American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons
Central Illinois Orthopedic Society

RESEARCH: Section of Orthopedic Research, Rush Medical College and Rush Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center Chicago, Illinois
Abstract (Publication pending) Summer of 2001
Best Orthopedic Resident Research Project – Rush Medical Center - 2003
“The Effects of Medial Meniscal Transplant Techniques on Intra-articular Contact Pressures.”

- Compared intra-articular contact pressures in the medial compartment of the knee using the key-hole and bone plug transplant technique on cadaveric specimens utilizing the TekScan system.

Hollinger EF, Kolb EH. Ewing's Sarcoma Family of Tumors. Surgical Oncology, New York: Springer-Verlag, 2003.

- Book Chapter discussing Ewing's Sarcoma Family of Tumors.

Neurobiology Research

University of Illinois, Urbana, IL

Research Assistant

January 1992 – May 1993

“The Effects of Climbing on Motor Patterns in Cockroach Legs”

- Investigated motor activity in the extensor muscles in the middle and rear legs of insects. Used different burst frequencies to represent use of sensory feedback in walking.
- Research presented at University of Illinois at Chicago Neurobiology Conference, 1993 and by Dr. Delcomyn in Glasgow, Scotland in August, 1993.

ACTIVITIES

Team Physician

Millikin University

Fall 2003 - present

- Provide medical coverage for Millikin University athletic teams including coverage of home football games.

Student Council

Rush Medical College

President 1995 - 96

Sept. 1994 - June 1998

- Student representative to the Deans Council addressing student concerns at Rush Medical College.
- Organized various class activities and functions.

Liaison Committee on Medical Education

Rush Medical College

Committee member

Winter of 1996 - Spring 1998

- Nominated to serve on the Subcommittee on Graduate Medical Education along with the Subcommittee on Governance and Administration.
- Subcommittees served to provide an internal review of Rush Medical College's graduate medical education, governance, and administration prior to review for re-accreditation by the American College of Graduate Medical Education.